Most Harleys are air-cooled, which makes perfect sense because the wind cools your engine as you ride. But when you're stuck in traffic, the cooling stops. The slower you go, the more your engine suffers. That's why smart Harley owners install a Harley-Davidson cooling fan. It blows life-saving air across your V-twin even when it's sitting still--which is when it needs it most.

The capable motor of your Harley Davidson produces great horsepower, which goes hand in hand with the production of waste heat. For proper operation and long service life, your engine must be properly cooled. This task is carried off by the cooling system. Motorcycle cooling fans are engineered and included to the system with only one purpose in mind: to force more fresh, cool air to the radiator or air-cooled engine block to make excessive heat dissipate into the atmosphere quicker.
