Now that the shipping issue is resolved and the TV is safely in my home, I am enjoying it immensely! I had been using a Sony Grand Wega 52" rear projection TV that was HD ready. It was a great TV but ridiculously large and intrusive. By contrast, the Toshiba REGZA is sleek and stylish. The gloss black frame is attractive but diminutive.

The toshiba does have a slightly better picture than the new sony 52" w series of the same size which is around the same price. However the toshiba does support deep color and 5:5 pulldown which is the same thing as 24 p or film speed or 24 frames per second. this is a important new technology that samsung forgot to include on their new lcd series.
